About Waldorf Astoria Golf Club

Visually stunning and immensely playable, the Par 72 Waldorf Astoria Golf Club was designed by acclaimed golf course architect Rees Jones and features a five-tee system to accommodate golfers of every skill level. Winding through a large wetland preserve and enhanced by majestic cypress trees lining the fairways, holes are visually arresting from tee to green with a layout that ingeniously blends elements from several of the world's classic courses with the clever wrinkles and endless subtleties of modern golf. The result is a truly exceptional setting and an elite Orlando golfing experience. With an expansive practice range featuring several target greens and a chipping area to fine-tune the short game, golfers can adequately prepare themselves for the memorable round to come. Afterwards, peruse top-of-the-line Taylor Made and Peter Millar merchandise in the fully stocked Pro Shop, and then enjoy refreshing drinks and traditional clubhouse dining with sweeping views of the course from the Clubhouse Grille. By any method of classification, Waldorf Astoria Golf Club is one of Orlando's Best.
